

FREE SELF-DEFENSE WORKSHOP FOR CAMBRIDGE LGBTQ YOUTH

IMPACT is a violence prevention and self-defense program that teaches people effective strategies to resist threats, intimidation, and violence perpetrated by strangers and familiar people. In a non-competitive environment, students learn assertive verbal boundary setting techniques and physical self defense.

On Sunday, October 24th from 1-4pm, IMPACT will hold a free all-gender workshop for any Cambridge youth in grades 9-12, who identifies as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, intersex, questioning and/or queer, that will address some of the ways in which LGBTQ people are specifically targeted and harassed.

This workshop is sponsored by the Cambridge GLBT Commission.
